Pav-Solar Joins Industry Leaders in Growing California's Solar Industry

Pav-Solar becomes newest CALSEIA member.

SACRAMENTO - Pav-Solar has become the newest member of the nation's largest state solar power trade association, the California Solar Energy Industries Association (CALSEIA).

"We are proud to have Pav-Solar join CALSEIA to support its mission of expanding the use of clean, solar technologies throughout the state. CALSEIA members are recognized as being true leaders in the California market as they promote high standards within the industry and advocate fair policies for solar consumers. We look forward to working closely with Pav-Solar in continuing this work," says Bernadette Del Chiaro, Executive Director of CALSEIA.

Pav-Solar provides solar energy systems for agriculture, dairy, commercial and residential uses. Pav-Solar is Bakersfield's premier solar power provider, and they stand by their work even long after installation. They also guarantee the system's performance for savings you can count on. Their 60+ years of experience in electrical contracting gives them the benefit of knowing industry challenges and finding the exact solutions to meet your solar needs.

Pav-Solar joins CALSEIA after being carefully vetted and approved through the association's application process, which ensures member companies adhere to industry best practices.

We invite you to visit Pav-Solar's office, and warehouse located at 6308 Seven Seas Avenue in central Bakersfield, California.

Let Pav-Solar get you on your way to energy independence today.

Founded in 1977, CALSEIA, the California Solar Energy Industries Association, represents manufacturers, installers, financiers, and distributors of solar panels and related components and technologies throughout the state.
